Foreword

Paying for tuition and other related costs can be a big challenge for university students. Especially for students with disabilities as they may have trouble finding ways to pay for these expenses. This guide contains over 29 scholarship opportunities based on specific disabilities. Students with notable academic records are preferred for many of these scholarships. Obtaining a scholarship can also make your graduate school applications and résumé stand out amongst your peers.

This guide provides a list of well-known scholarships for students with disabilities pursuing a bachelor or graduate degree at a university. Information provided includes eligibility criteria for the scholarship, the requirements for the application, deadline for the application submission, website link to apply for the scholarship, and the web or mailing address for document submission. SSD encourages students to apply to these scholarships and make use of all the resources available to them.

ABC Law Centers Cerebral Palsy Annual Scholarship

About the Scholarship: The annual scholarship is for financial assistance designed to simultaneously increase awareness about cerebral palsy and celebrate the achievements of those with cerebral palsy. ABC Law Centers will award one scholarship per year in the amount of $1,000 to a student who has cerebral palsy.

Criteria:

To be considered, you must meet the following criteria:

- Be seeking, in the process of completing, or have obtained higher education at an institution in the United States (either as an undergraduate or graduate student).
- Have cerebral palsy.
- Have a GPA of at least 3.0.

Application Requirements:

- A completed application (Must be submitted to the web link below).
- An official academic transcript (Must be submitted via email).
- An essay not exceeding two typed, single-spaced pages describing how you have been affected by cerebral palsy (CP). You may discuss any obstacles you've overcome, as well as any other ways in which you have been influenced (e.g., if you believe that having CP has affected your career goals, personality, etc.).
- A different creative project focused on the same topic. Examples include, but are not limited to photo projects, video or other multimedia presentations (videos should not exceed five minutes.), creative writing, or performance piece.
- A short explanation of what you plan to do with the scholarship funds. An example may include use of scholarship funds for tuition in higher education (for undergraduate applicants and graduate applicants).
- Applicants must send their transcript(s) and essay/creative project in ONE email to the Scholarship Committee (community@abclawcenters.com).
- For applicants who plan to apply the funds to non-tuition purposes (such as internships, research opportunities, charity projects, etc.), applicants must clearly outline the following: purpose of the project, the demonstrable benefit of the project, and a clear step-by-step execution plan.

ACB Scholarship Program

About the Scholarship: The American Council of the Blind's (ACB) Scholarship Program was established in 1982. ACB and the American Foundation for the Blind (AFB) have now partnered together to offer educational scholarships ranging from $2,000 to $7,500 for those attending a technical college or as an entering freshman, undergraduate or a graduate student. This program awards students with scholarships to help with post-secondary education financial needs such as tuition, fees, room and board, and other additional costs associated with adaptive technology.

Criteria:

To be eligible for a scholarship, applicants need to be legally blind, maintain a 3.0 GPA for most scholarships, be a full-time student (as well as students who work 32 or more hours per week and attend college part time), and be involved in their school/local community.

Application Requirements:

All interested candidates must register for an ACB account prior to submitting a scholarship application online. Once you have created an account with ACB, please log in and access the scholarship application from the link at the top of the site. Visit this link to create an account or login or <https://members.acb.org>

You will need to include the following documents with your completed application:

- Certification of legal blindness from an ophthalmologist, optometrist or physician. Legal blindness is defined as an individual who cannot see better than 20/200 in the best eye with glasses or contact lenses or whose visual field in the best eye is 20 degrees or less at the widest diameter with glasses or contact lenses.
- A transcript(s) from the school you are currently attending. Entering freshmen will need to include their high school transcripts and graduate students will need to include undergraduate transcripts. Unless extenuating circumstances exist, a 3.0 cumulative grade point average is required.
- Two letters of recommendation from a current or recent instructor, career counselor or employer. Please submit each letter of recommendation separately.
- Proof of acceptance from a post-secondary school. Entering and transferring students must submit a notice or letter from the admissions office certifying acceptance or consideration for admission. If this is not available when the application is submitted, it must be submitted as soon as it is available. Students continuing at the same school attended during 2020-2021 will not need to submit this document.

CSU Dale M. Schoettler Scholarship for Visually Impaired Students

About the Scholarship: The Dale M. Schoettler Scholarship for Visually Impaired Students was established in 1991 for San Francisco State and San Jose State University students to receive a quality education in pursuit of a professional career in business, humanities, arts, and the sciences. After Mr. Schoettler's death in 2001, the California State University (CSU) received a $4.8 million bequest from his estate to expand the existing financial aid program for visually impaired students to all 23 CSU campuses. Mr. Schoettler, who himself was blind, was a businessman from Mountain View, California.

Applications are available through the campus financial aid office. Students who have previously been nominated and/or awarded the Schoettler scholarship may continue to apply each year they meet the qualifications.

Criteria:

- Applicants must currently have a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.8 on a 4.0 scale and must maintain a minimum GPA of 2.8 on a 4.0 scale during the academic year in which the award is received.
- Applicants must be currently enrolled in 6.1 units or more as a CSU undergraduate or graduate student in any major field and must remain enrolled in 6.1 units during the academic year in which the award is received.
- Applicants must have a visual disability and provide verification from a medical health professional, which includes the best corrected visual acuity notations. (Please note that the disability must be such that it impedes the educational process and necessitates accommodations, support services, or programs).
- Students who have previously been nominated and/or awarded the Schoettler scholarship may continue to apply each year provided they continue to meet the qualifications.

Application Requirements:

Completed applications must include the following:

- A completed Scholarship Applicant Information form.
- A Confirmation of Visual Disability form completed by a medical health professional.

- A brief Personal Statement by the student describing his or her background, personal achievements, challenges encountered, educational pursuits, and goals and aspirations for the future.
- An Application Checklist (to be completed by SSD and the Financial Aid office)

The Nicholas J. Delonardis Scholarship

About the Scholarship: The goal of the Nicholas J. Deleonardis Scholarship is to encourage full-time college students to engage in research leading to noninvasive technologies that will improve communication between Deaf and hearing people. The scholarship amount is $6,000 and may cover any portion of tuition, fees, or books.

Criteria:

To be eligible, applicants must meet all of the following criteria:

- Be a full-time undergraduate or full-time graduate student at an accredited four-year university or college in the United States.

- Have permanent U.S. residency.
- Have a minimum GPA of 3.0 on a 4.0 scale (or the equivalent).
- Complete the entire application packet.
- Propose a research project involving non-invasive technology that will improve communication between Deaf and hearing people. The project will be completed by the applicant as a part of the program requirements.
- The American Sign Language Project does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, disability, sexual orientation, ethnic origin, religious beliefs, or gender.

Application Requirements:

- Completed application form, which is at the end of the Instructions and Application Form Document, which can be found at the website below.
- Official college transcript.
- A letter of recommendation (500-1,000 words) from a teacher who is familiar with your academic record, skills, and abilities.
- Proof of permanent residency, if not a U.S. citizen.
- A 3-5 page description of a proposed research project, including project goals and timeline. Explain how the project fills a need not previously addressed. Include an explanation of how the research will create noninvasive technology that will facilitate better communication between Deaf and hearing people. The applicant must propose a scholarship period, which may not exceed one year. The project must be completed by the applicant during the scholarship period.
- A personal statement, no more than one page, that explains how the applicant became interested in non-invasive technology for better Deaf/hearing communication, and how the proposed project fits into the applicant's life plan. This will help the scholarship committee get a better sense of the applicant as a person.

Tips on Writing a Personal Statement

Personal statements, also known as “Statements of Purpose,” are generally an essay or series of essays required for scholarship applications. The personal statement should showcase your accomplishments and express your vision of what you are going to achieve in the future. In short, the Statement of Purpose must make you stand out amongst the competition.

There is no specific way to write a personal statement, as it is dependent on the type of questions asked on the scholarship application. Thus, different scholarships can require different topics. To generalize the process for writing a statement of purpose, consider the tips below:

- Understand and analyze the questions asked on an application form.
- Do thorough research on the scholarship.
- Prepare a set of responses about your strengths, career plans, influences, academic experiences, research conducted, mentors, volunteerism and hobbies. Write a short response for each.
- Prepare an essay with the help of the personal responses in the previous step.
- Revise the content and format of the essay written.
- Solicit suggestions from faculty and counselors for further revision.
- Proofread for grammar, content, and format errors.

Do's:

- Answer all questions asked in the application form uniquely (even if they seem repetitive).
- Make responses interesting, add personal experiences.
- Use statement of purpose to introduce yourself.
- For a one-page essay, write on three or more different topics.
- Make sure the essay doesn't have grammar mistakes.
- Try not to use technical terms or passive voice.

Don'ts:

- Write what the selection committee wants to hear even if it is dishonest.
- Repeat the same topics and choose examples that are unrelated.
- Use stock phrases or expressions or write in clichés.
- Answer in general terms or in an abstract way.
